Dear Renata Hesse:

My computer came with Microsoft which has made my life fuller, more efficient, and fun. I am delighted that Bill Gates has achieved so much success. He deserves it. Nothing should be done to hamper him or his company. The government should be protecting his business not interfering with it.

Bill Gates' success in no way threatens anyone. In the long run progress is in everyone's best interest. You should suspect the motives of anyone who wants to get in his way.

Everyone, including Bill Gates, has a right to his own property.

Sincerely,

Teresa Hermiz
